

Rules – and some good advice

From the course descriptions it appears how the examination form will be (written/oral/assignment). It is always the latest course description that is valid.

The examinations are either internally or externally graded.

Internal examinations are solely graded by the examiner. In some cases an internal censor will be present. External examinations are graded by the examiner and one or several censors.

Exam number or CPR number?

For all written examinations held in the premises of the university you must state your exam number. For written home assignments/exam assignments or oral examinations you must state your name and CPR number.

Information about grades

At the Student Self Service pages you will continually be able to see your grades as they are being typed.

Exam results are not informed on the phone.
