ChemDraw/ChemOffice Institution License

Quick Start Guide

Last Updated: February 21, 2022

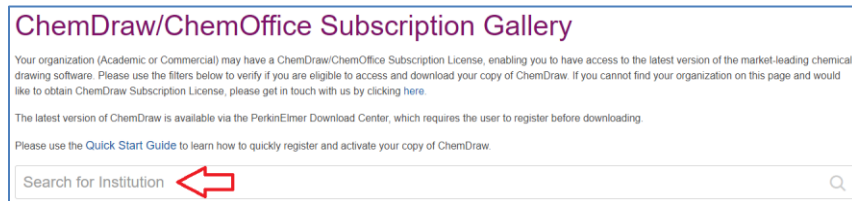

Introduction

Use this document to quickly register and activate your ChemDraw/ChemOffice license.

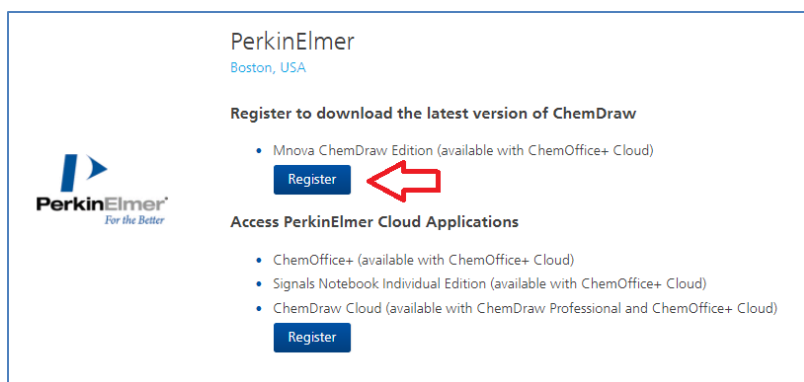

Find your organization's Institution license

To find your organization's institution license:

1. Click the following link (or copy it and paste it into your browser):
<http://informatics.perkinelmer.com/sitesubscription/>.

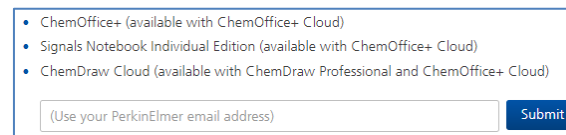

2. Search for your institution by typing the name in the "Search for Institution" field.
3. The first option will be for registering to download the latest version of ChemDraw/ChemOffice.
The example shown here shows the PerkinElmer logo, but your institution's logo will appear in its place.
To continue with registering and downloading

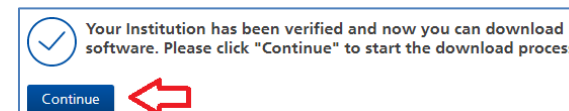

ChemDraw/ChemOffice, move to step 7 given below.

To gain access to the additional subscriptions your organization has subscribed to like ChemOffice+ Cloud, Signals Notebook Individual Edition, or ChemDraw Cloud, move to step 4 below.

4. If you are not looking to register for ChemDraw, but gain access to the additional subscriptions your organization has subscribed to (ChemOffice+ Cloud, Signals Notebook Individual Edition, or ChemDraw Cloud), select the second option "Access PerkinElmer Cloud Applications". Once you select the Register button for Cloud Applications, you will need to enter your institution's email address and select the secondary "Submit" button.

Once your email is verified, select "Continue".

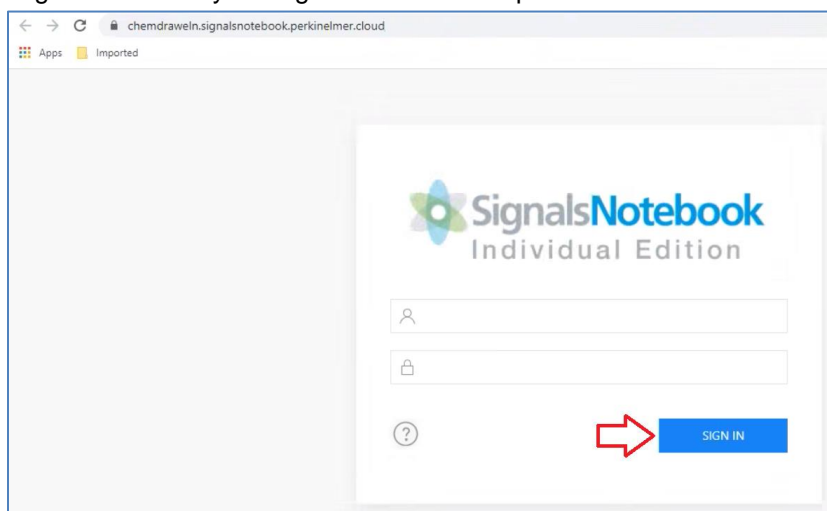

5. At the PerkinElmer Fulfillment System page, select the subscription you need to access by selecting "Click here".

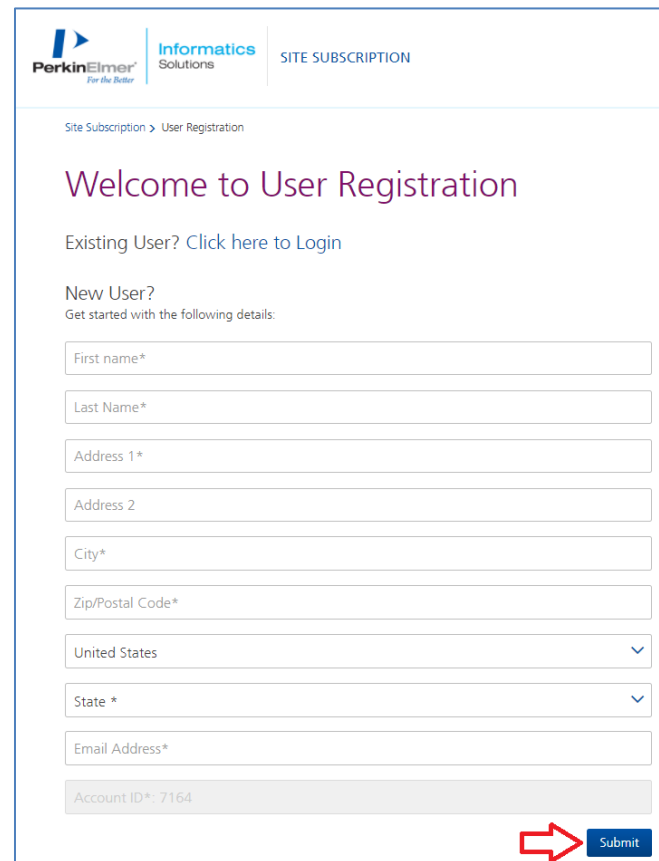

ChemDraw/ChemOffice Institution License Quick Start Guide

- To install the ChemOffice+ client, log in to Signals Notebook and navigate to your user profile in the top right; then select “Get ChemOffice+”. This will download a client that can be used to launch ChemOffice+ Cloud.

You will be prompted with a Signals Notebook URL (corresponding to the Signals Notebook URL where you downloaded the client), and you will need to authenticate one more time through a web browser to gain access to your Signals Notebook experiments.

- If you are looking to register for ChemDraw, complete the Welcome to User Registration page and select “Submit” at the bottom of the form.

- You will be directed to the <https://perkinelmerinformatics.flexnetoperations.com/> “Sign Up” website where you will need to enter your email address again, and provide a new password. (Be sure to record the new password in a safe location for future use).

Install and Activate ChemDraw/ChemOffice

- Once you have completed the download of the software to your computer, find the Windows (.exe) or Mac (.dmg) file to run the installer. Select the installation file and use right-click to “Run as Administrator”.

Warning: Do not begin installation before the download is 100% complete.

Note: during installation, if a previous version of ChemDraw/ChemOffice (v17 and up) is detected, the installer may not prompt you for activation. If it does not ask for activation, then you are ready to run ChemDraw.

- If it does ask for activation, use the Activation Code you recorded from the “List Entitlements” page above (Download Your Software).
- In the ChemDraw application, in the PerkinElmer Software Activation window, find the “Activation code” field and enter your 16-digit, four-part code you recorded on the “List Entitlements” page above.
